

Candidate Notice
Changes to the January/February 2006 Testing Schedule

To provide additional time for the distribution of software upgrades to the Uniform CPA Examination, the January/February 2006 testing window will begin on January 9 instead of January 2.

If you have already scheduled an examination section for the first week of January 2006, you will be contacted by Prometric to reschedule your test. If your NTS expires between January 1 and January 9, 2006 or you have questions about credit or other eligibility matters, please contact NASBA's Candidate Care department at 1-866-MY-NASBA (1-866-696-2722).

The new examination software includes significant improvements to the examination's simulation interface and functionality. The revised software will be operational as of January 9, 2006.

If you will be taking the CPA Examination in 2005, use the tutorial and sample tests currently available on the CPA Exam web site. If you plan on taking the CPA Examination in 2006, please use the new tutorial and practice tests when they are available. The revised tutorial and sample tests will be posted on the CPA Exam web site at www.cpa-exam.org on October 1, 2005.
